I.O.D.E. Collects $391.75 for Blind

At the October meeting of Mons Chapter I.O.D.E., Mrs. H. Lynch-Staunton paid tribute to the late Mrs. Charles Mortimer, a charter member of the chapter, and a former regent. A moment's silence was observed in her memory.

Mrs. Freeman reported that $54.00 worth of quilts and nursery bags had been sent for overseas welfare work. It was decided to have a food shower for an unfortunate family in town.

Mrs. Nichol reported that up to date $391.75 had been realized from the canvass and tag day in aid of the blind.

At the conclusion of the business meeting husbands and friends joined the members and Mrs. Freeman presented the chapter's Grade XII scholarship to Miss Beverly Wiggins.

Two excellent addresses were given, one by Miss Valeta Waskin, who attended the Red Cross camp at Lake Edith, and the other by Norman Archer, the Didsbury high school delegate to the United Nations Summer School at Banff.

As the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Johnson and her committee.

Red and White Store: Front door lock broken but nothing reported missing.

Best wishes go to Mr. P. Hoesgood who is a patient in the Didsbury hospital.

Threshing goes on in the district, everyone taking advantage of the fine weather. Crops are spotty, some being fair and others hardly worth the trouble. The later cut grain seems to be the drier, of both cuts. Potatoes in the bins are having to be watched as most people report spoiled ones, which have a tendency to damage the good.

Bonnie Hogg who was a patient in the Didsbury hospital since Thursday was able to come home Monday.

Romeo and Juliet Show To Be In Olds on Oct. 29

On Friday, October 29th, the Lancaster Theatre Company will present Shakespeare's great love tragedy in the Arena Hall to both afternoon and evening audiences.

This will be the second appearance of this company in Olds under the auspices of the local High School. Last year, Macbeth was played in the afternoon only, to a capacity school audience drawn from as far afield as Trochu and Carstairs. The enthusiasm shown was so great that, when the opportunity came, the High School entered into a contract for a 1954 return performance.

Believing that the adults of Olds would also appreciate Shakespeare on the legitimate stage, and encouraged by the financial success of last year's presentation, the High School undertook to sponsor the two presentations this year. It is expected that the response of the citizens and district will justify their confidence in Shakespeare when adequately presented.

And there are few companies, if any, in Canada, better qualified than is the Lancaster Company. They are well-known throughout British Columbia, where they have established their own Theatre by Starlight at Penitentiary and have played in other provinces.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. S. Jackson.

A masquerade dance will be held at the hall on Friday, October 29th, with Palmer's orchestra in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kershaw attended the nursing aid graduation of their daughter in Calgary on Friday.

Saving money.. and writing cheques

A bank offers you two types of deposit account, Savings and Current.

If your main purpose is to save, to accumulate funds, it's good to have a Savings account.

If you write cheques frequently, you will like the many advantages of a Current account.

The money you leave in a Savings account earns interest, and your bank book gives you an up-to-date, continuing record of your financial progress. If your funds are active, with frequent deposits and withdrawals, a Current account provides a special service; a monthly statement, together with your cancelled cheques—useful as receipts and a ready reference for budgeting, bookkeeping and other purposes.

Not Stubbornness . . .

It must seem to some of the right-of-way buyers that farmers along the route for the proposed new highway are just plain stubborn. About as much is said by the farmers of the right-of-way buyers.

It would appear from reports that settlement has been reached in some places. In others there is firm holding out on behalf of the farmer for what he believes is right. This, of course, is inevitable at this stage. We do believe, however, that every person along the right-of-way (at least in this area) is not holding out just because it happens to be the government that is paying. Rather, they believe that under certain conditions, and with past facts, they are best to judge what they have lost in land, fencing, lawns, inconveniences and time for recovery to an established position.

Who can say what one man can do over ten years with the land he has lost? Who can estimate one man's time as against his neighbors. Who can say one man's inconvenience is not another's gain?

If the government is willing to spend millions of dollars without question building a super highway then there should be no squabble over a few hundred dollars to the farmer who gives his land and inconvenience so it can be built.

If that is the route of a highway which will stand for even 25 years the farmer is entitled to take that length of time into consideration in computing his agreement price. We tell farmers that their is a priceless heritage — that the land under good care and thoughtful farming can be a home for generations. Then handed and business like we try to

FINAL CROP REPORT

In its final crop report of the season the Alberta Wheat Pool has estimated Alberta's wheat crop at 95 million bushels. This compares with the bumper crop of 163 million threshed last year and the average of 121 million bushels produced over the past 20 years. This year's crop is the smallest since 1945. Average yield of wheat is set at 16.2 bushels per acre. This is well below the 28.7 bushels of last year and compares with the long-time average of 17.6 bushels per acre.

Oat production is expected to total 74 million bushels and barley production 71.5 million bushels.

Because of the frost, rust and wet, unfavorable harvesting weather the quality of this year's crop is well below the average. Based on present conditions the Pool estimates that only 53.9 per cent of the wheat will qualify for contract or milling grades — 4 Northern or higher. Less than 9 per cent will be 1 or 2 Northern. In Southern Alberta grades will be fairly good but in central and northern regions the bulk of the grain will be of the feed grades.

Up to October 9, only 35 per cent of the wheat in the province had been threshed, 16 per cent of the oats and 27 per cent of the barley, making this one of the latest years on record and about equal to 1951. Threshing is fairly well advanced throughout most of Southern Alberta but in central and northern regions it has scarcely started.

Through The Study Window

By REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG

The massive agenda, representing the reports to be discussed at the General Council, had this note on the last page, under "Some Rules of Debate and Order." It reads "Before offering a motion the mover should clearly fix in his mind the object he wishes to attain, and then select the motion best suited to his purpose."

Of course, this rule was not strictly observed. Words, whether written or oral, have a nasty habit of wandering around, and getting entangled with all manner of foreign submitted by the Board of Evangelism and Social Service we find these words: "Record its judgment that the hydrogen and any other thermo-nuclear bomb should not be used for destructive purposes."

It might be asked immediately "Why insert those words for destructive purposes?" Is there any other conceivable use for these bombs other than as weapons of destruction? Obviously there is not, and the simple meaning of this resolution would be that such bombs must not be used.

But again one might ask "If we do not use them, and therefore do not manufacture them, what happens if another nation or nations unnamed proceeds to stock up on them? Resolutions of this nature are really only of value if all nations are agreed upon the subject. Some years ago the nations had agreed to outlaw war, which was much more thorough-going resolution than the one under discussion here. It is of real value to declare what things ought to be outlawed, illegal. We need to express opinions about the moral principles that laws, national or international, may be framed to implement them.

But the formulation of a law and its enforcement are quite different things. There is very little doubt that none want to use such horrible weapons as are now available but it is not at all certain that nations have such mutual confidence in each other that none will make its use inconceivable.

The real foundation for peace, as I understand it, is not to be found in the prohibition of any kind of weap-

The Joke Box

A grocer was standing in front of his store when he saw a driverless car rolling slowly down the street. He ran to the car, jumped in, and pulled on the emergency brake with a jerk. As he got out a man walked up. "Well," said the merchant proudly, "I stopped it."

"Yeah, I know," said the owner. "I was pushing it."

Two motorists met on a street too narrow for two cars to pass. "I never back up for an idiot," yelled one driver. "That's all right," said the other, shifting into reverse, "I always do."

A visitor from the city was all delighted on being shown around the silver fox ranch. "Terrific," he muttered repeatedly as he was taken down the rows of pens, each with a sleek animal in it. "How often do you skin them?" the visitor asked, suddenly as the host started back toward the house.

"Just twice a year," drawled the rancher. "It makes 'em nervous, you know."

A miserly auctioneer who was seriously ill was in conference with a specialist. "You are in the advanced stages of a very rare disease," said the specialist, "but for $500 I can cure you."

"That's encouraging," whispered the auctioneer, "but you'll have to shave the price. I've just had a better bid from the undertaker."

DELAYED OPENING

The date of opening of the schools of agriculture at Olds and Vermilion has been set back from October 19th to October 26th, because of the late harvesting conditions. The school at Fairview will open as scheduled on October 19th.

on but in the proclamation of a positive Gospel, with resultant righteousness.

The original resolution was revised and re-worded to more effectively express its true intent. Such a simple rule "select the motion best suited to his purpose," but so difficult to follow.

Notes From D.A.

Today there is widespread testing of cattle for tuberculosis and the vaccinating of calves in the Bang's disease program, this with dehorning other vaccinating and treatment of sick animals makes a good corral and chute an necessity on a farm where there are cattle.

There has been some serious accidents both to humans and to stock in the past which could have been avoided if the proper handling facilities had been available. A small corral with a chute and squeeze gate is of great value to any stock producer, if at present feeding corrals are being used or if your present set up has no corrals at all it will soon prove its value in handling stock.

In building a corral of the type required the essential features are location, size, strength and adaptability to your requirements. Where a large herd is kept a corral with more capacity is needed in some cases it may be used for sorting, but for many farmers a corral of about 50 feet by 100 feet will serve nicely.

The posts should be solid and extend 7 feet above the ground placed at 8 foot intervals. The rails may be plank or poles, an entrance gate from outer corral or yard, placed in one corner. In the opposite corner of the corral build a holding pen this holding pen having a gate to the chute. The chute is built along the side of the corral 28 inches in width with a gate and head squeeze. This may be used for any necessary veterinarian work, vaccinating or for loading cattle for shipment.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The fact that purification of thought and action removes the obstacles to individual growth, progress and salvation, will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday. Key-noting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death" is the Golden Text from James 1:12: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following: (49:7-12): "Being holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the physical and moral standards of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring immortality to light."

From the Bible the following selections will be read (Philippians 3:13-14): "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

LOCAL MAN RETURNS TO O.S.A.

Mr. W. Cameron Kirk, instructor in farm mechanics, returns to O.S.A. after three years of business experience in Didsbury. Mr. Kirk was born in Saskatchewan, Sask., and received his high school education in Vancouver. He graduated from the University of Saskatchewan in agricultural Engineering in 1948 and instructed at O.S.A. from 1949 to 1951.

PRECIOUS PEBBLE

BACK IN 1925 the Danish scientist Oersted produced the first pebble of metallic aluminum. Half a century passed before a technique was discovered for turning out the metal in quantity.

Modern processing of bauxite ore to make low-cost aluminum uses fantastic quantities of power. That is why Canada, one of the world's major aluminum suppliers, in Quebec province, smelters at Arvida, Shawinigan Falls, Isle Maligne and Beauport last year used nearly one-fifth of the country's total electrical output. And in British Columbia new sources of water power are feeding the pot lines of the new smelter at Kitimat. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

WHO GOES TO SCHOOL IN ALBERTA

We in Alberta believe that education, tailored to their needs and interests, and measured according to their various talents, is the right of all our children. The school must reach them all, and develop in each one the best of skill and wisdom that he can attain. We owe this debt to those who live in the forest and on the range, to those who live 40 miles from town, to the very dull, to the very bright, to the crippled and the deaf, as well as to the children who play next door.

We owe them training as workers or as scholars, each according to his will and capacity — and training, too, as future citizens, able and apt to share in the fellowship and public life of the community, and responsive to its needs. That is the debt we owe, in Alberta, by equal opportunity for all our children.

Can this be done? Albertans believe that it can — but there are many obstacles to overcome. Alberta is a land of vast distances and sparse population. The population is smaller than British Columbia, for example, but because of its distribution, Alberta has twice as many schools. There are inequalities, numerous and varied, but the Alberta Department of Education has taken vigorous measures to eliminate these.

It has extended and enriched the learning program in remote areas through more adequate supervision and guidance, and through correspondence courses, audio-visual aids, and school broadcasts. It has given assistance, where necessary, in centralization of schools in rural areas and in the substantial increase in school transport. Nearly half the number of rural children now travel by bus to modern centralized schools. But most of all, in increased building and operational grants, paid directly to school divisions and districts, and the equalization grants, allocated according to local need.

have brought about a "new look" in rural education. The equalization grant, based on assessment per classroom, is one device responsive to the need of school divisions and districts. If local resources, as measured by assessment, are high, then the equalization grant is low; if local assessment is low, then the equalization grant is relatively high. For example, the assessment of Camrose School Division is approximately $97,468 per classroom, while in the Lac Biche School Division it is only $26,767. Equalization grants compensate for this disparity.

In 1953, the Camrose School Division received a grant of $40,425.08, approximately $30 per pupil, while the Lac La Biche Division received $128,423.74, about $50 per pupil. Equalization and operational grants from the Department of Education paid in these cases 36 per cent of the cost of education in Camrose and 77 per cent in Lac La Biche. A modern and efficient school program requires a modern and efficient school plant. The Alberta Government, through its building grants advisory services, assistance in marketing debentures, and guarantee of interest, has provided effective leadership in this program of post-war school expansion. In 1945, the value of rural school plant and equipment in Alberta was less than $11,000,000. Today it is $40,000,000.

In 1953, 852 school units under construction in Alberta, at an estimated cost of $25,000,000. More than 500 of these provide improved school accommodation for children who live in rural areas. There are 750 more classrooms in Alberta than at the end of World War II, but there are nearly 200 less one-roomed rural schools; and of these additional classrooms, more than two-thirds are high school grades.

High River's

Bob Edwards, editor of the Eye Opener, in one of his early issues stresses the pleasing effect of a happy phrase in softening blows. He has a few suggestions to make on prevailing sleeping habits, and spins a yarn about the famous Barr colony which attempted unsuccessfully to make a go of it in the north. Then he describes in touching detail the sad circumstances surrounding the death of Peter McGonigle of Midnapore. He concludes with Peter's last will and testament.

The Felicitous Phrase

There is a great art in putting a thing nicely. A prisoner was being sentenced the other day.

"You have a pleasant home and a bright fireplace, with happy children gathered round it, haven't you?" asked the judge.

"Yes sir" replied the prisoner seeing a gleam of hope.

"Well," said the judge "if the happy children sit round the fire-side till your return they will sit for sixty days."

Sleeping Habits

Don't sleep on your left side for that causes too great pressure on your heart. Don't sleep on your right side for that interferes with the respiration of that lung. Don't sleep on your stomach for that interferes with the respiration of both lungs and makes breathing difficult. Don't sleep on your back for this method of getting rest is hard on the nervous system. Don't sleep in a chair for the body falls into an unnatural position and you can't relax. Don't sleep standing up for you may topple over and crack your skull.— Don't sleep.

The Barr Colony

Wonder whatever became of that famous Barr colony of Englishmen who started out some ten years ago in the vicinity of Lloydminster. Many a yarn was told at their expense. Here is one.

"One young Englishman who quit the colony and struck a job at a sheep ranch, was told the first morning to saddle and round up the sheep into the corral.

"If you don't mind boss I'd rather do it afoot. I'm a bit of a sprinter," you know."

"All right go to it the way you want."

The Englishman returned late in the evening completely fagged out. The boss asked him if he'd had much trouble.

"Oh not at all my dear fellow. The sheep were all right but the badly lambs were the deuce and all. My word, but they can travel fast."

"Lambs? Where did you find lambs in that bunch of wethers?"

"Oh they were there all right. I've got them in the yard right now. They gave me quite a run."

The mystified boss went out to look and found over a dozen jack rabbits lying waiting for breath and completely exhausted.

Commenting on his herder later the boss said: "He don't know much but he is sure willing."

Passing of Peter McGonigle While Peter McGonigle of the Midnapore Gazette was examining an ivory handled revolver which the bartender of the Neversmore Hotel had accepted in lieu of payment for a two-day drunk, the weapon unexpectedly went off, lodging a bullet in McGonigle's abdomen. A physician was hastily summoned from Calgary.

In the meanwhile Jimmy the barber summoned help and had his old friend raised from the floor and stretched on the bar, with his head resting comfortably on the slot machine. Mr. McGonigle retained consciousness, but complained of great pain. A tumbler of brandy eased his sufferings somewhat, but he whispered to Jimmy that he feared he had been sent for at last.

The tender-hearted mixologist thereupon threw another tumbler of brandy into him, after which Mr. McGonigle declared himself to be feeling much better.

Pending the arrival of the doctor from Calgary, nine miles away, Jimmy did all he could to staunch the flow of blood. Ripping open the shirt and locating the spot where the bullet had entered, he took the glass stopper from a Gooderham flask and inserted the blunt point in the hole, keeping it pressed down with his thumb, thus reducing the rush of blood.

The contents of the flask he absently poured down his own throat from time to time.

No one was allowed to enter the bar except a few favored friends, one of whom was dispatched to the office of the Midnapore Gazette to ease Mrs. McGonigle's mind regarding her husband's absence.

On being informed that a messenger had been thoughtfully sent over to enlighten his wife, the great editor smiled, and said he

Mrs. Chris Hedebrand, who is cooking for a while at the College, had the morning service at the United Missionary Church. She explained the volunteer support subscription method for their support in the country of Denmark, to which they are going. They are expecting to have enough supporters soon and then they will leave for that land. We appreciate her help here at the present.

President and Mrs. Taylor and family celebrated their wedding anniversary on Saturday, along with Mr. Taylor's sister, Mrs. Paul Lancaster of Calgary.

Ken Shauers of Alix, Roy Corless of Sundre and Odin Eikeland of Galahad have registered for class work at the College. All three are seniors this year.

Mr. Widmark has room in his schedule for piano students as yet. There may be those in the community who want to start themselves of this opportunity. If so, see him at the College. Mr. Lusk will also take applicants for voice. These registrations should be made soon.

Mrs. Florence Finlay spent a happy day with relatives at the College last Friday. She is now on her way to Africa where she will be putting in her eighth tour. Mrs. Finlay is the mother of Mrs. Auburn Milt, who with her husband is in Nigeria, Africa, some weeks ago and will have arrived there by now.

Rev. Eldon Boettger and his family are now established in their apartment on the College campus. He has been given the position of dean of men for the winter. Mr. Boettger has been a missionary in Africa for several years, and has permission from his board to take additional work at the College in preparation for teaching in Nigeria. It is a privilege to have them here.

The caretaker, Arthur Eby, has made a trip to the Castor-Galahad district and returned with a truckload of vegetables the good people in that community donated to the College. He has also received a large donation of feed from a friend in the May City district.

Some friends have brought us fresh eggs. This is always a donation most worthwhile in the College and provides excellent food for the students.

BOB EDWARDS

head on the keyboard, they rang up $14.65, but P. J. said it was a great improvement and worth the money.

An auto suddenly pulled up in front of the Nevmore Hotel and out jumped the doctor with his small black bag. He ordered Mr. McGonigle removed to Calgary for the type of expert treatment that only Calgary can give.

Two days later word was brought by runners to Midnapore that Peter J. had breathed his last on the operating table. The operation was said to have been the triumphant success that Calgary's operations always are, but Mr. McGonigle's heart, storm beaten as it has been by many a howling gale, failed to rise to the supreme call. The physicians were of the opinion that the rather unfortunate circumstance of Mr. McGonigle's heart ceasing to beat had more than a little to do with his death. In fact they were quite sure of it.

Before being taken to the operating room he made a will. He directed that the plant of the Midnapore Gazette, on which he had made two payments, be shipped back to the Toronto Type Foundry. The bunch of mares which he had been accused of stealing from the bar U (and acquitted of the charge) were to be sold for the benefit of his wife. The will, which was quite brief, ended with the earnest wish that if the worst happened, Jimmy the barber should marry the widow, Mrs. Janet McGonigle, after a decent interval of mourning—say a week. This passed a great spirit. The body was shipped back to Midnapore, and interred in the little garden back of the printing office.
